Date: February 27, 2026

Writing Sample Provided by This Candidate

Ms. Sampleperson's Responses

The printing company you work for sent an order of 5,000 catalogs to a new customer last week. You just found out that the catalog contains a misprint that the customer is demanding your company fix immediately. It is your responsibility to communicate the error and the department's proposed resolution to the customer. What would you say? The proposed solution, message format and content is entirely up to you.

You have 30 minutes to complete this task. Be sure to proofread your work because grammar and spelling errors will be counted. The writing sample will be run through a plagiarism checker upon completion.
